If you are unsure, please email admissions@norland.ac.uk.

Shoes or ankle boots

Shoes or ankle boots must be dark brown or dark tan, flat/very low heel, leather or vegan equivalent, smart. They do not have to be lace-ups but they must not slip off your feet. Trainers, sandals, flip flops, etc. are not allowed. Please note, these shoes are worn for both formal and practical uniform. Here are some examples of shoes and boots that would be permitted:

Ordering

You are expected to have your complete formal and practical uniform for your first day at Norland. It is very important that you allow time for any alterations that you may need to make to the individual garments in order to ensure they fit correctly. Please note that the garments are not made to measure and there may well be some additional expense if alterations are needed to the length of sleeves, trousers and/or hems. You can order your uniform from now. If you have a conditional offer, please do not remove the tags from the garments or dispose of the original packaging until your place has been confirmed, after your results are released in the middle of August. Our uniform suppliers have confirmed that as long as uniform is returned in its original packaging with all tags in place, a full refund can be obtained, if necessary. Do not make any alterations to the uniform until your place is confirmed.
